THE PACIFIC BAILROAD INJUNCTION.

Litigation Under the New Consolidation Act-Suit Against an Insurance Company-Carrying Pistols Not Illega .- The Belt Line Railroad Company in Court-Alleged False Imprisonment.

In the police kidnapping case the cross-examiation of Mrs. Talbot was concluded yesterday. but no new facts were developed. The examinaon will be resumed this morning

Surrogate Hutchings yesterday admitted to proontested by the brother, Dennis Burke, and sister, Anne Eagan, on the ground of undue influence and testamentary incapacity. Miss Burke bequeathed all her property, amounting to some thousands of dollars, to a cousin named Andrew Maloney, in whose house she died and who took care of her during her iliness, she having been neglected by the contestants.

In the United States District Court yesterday Mr. Post, Assistant District Attorney, applied to Judge Biatchford to sign a warrant of removal in the case of John T. Conway, who had been accused dorsement on a money order in Baltimore. The Judge re used to grant the warrant presented to im on the ground that it was not specific enough in a case of tois kind he said that a warrant should have some of the particularity of an indict-tefore Judge Biatchlord, four casks of glassware were condemned by default and ordered to be sold, no person appearing to claim the goods. The glassware was imported on the steamers Nevada and Wyoming.

Yesterday, in the United States District Court. Judge Blatchford rendered his decision in the case of the New York and Brooklyn Ferry Company against the steaming Union and the case of James A. Davenport and Edwin McMillard vs. the steam terryboat Superior. These were cross libel suits, growing out of a collision which took place on the East River on the 12th of October, 1872, between the Superior and the steaming Union. The Superior was on a trip from the slip at South Seventh street, Williamsburg, to her slip at Roosevelt street, New York. The Union was on her way from the Atlantic Basin in Brook-lyn to her slip in New York at the foot of Market street to put up for the night. The Judge, after writing a lengthy decision, arrives at the con-clusion in this case that both vessels were in fault and that the damages must be divided. He orders a reference to ascertain the damages and an apportionment, W. R. Beebe for the Superior; Denis McMahon for the Union.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

Right of an Attorney to Recover His Fees from an Assignee in Bankruptey. Yesterday, in the matter of Charles C. Hubbel and Edward A. Chapel, bankrupts, Judge Blatchford rendered the following decision, affecting the right of an attorney to recover for legal services rendered to an assignee in bankruptcy:-

vices rendered to an assignee in bankruptcy:—

DECISION.

On the 18th of November, 1873, the attorney for the assignee presented to this Court a petition setting forth that he had rendered various services in this matter, as attorney for the said assignee, as such, in reference to the estate of the bankrupts, and that the value of such services was the sum of 3441 57, and praying for an order referring it to the register in charge of the case to tax the amount of costs, counsel lees and disbursements of the said petitioner in and about his said services on notice to the assignee. The Court refused to make the order on the ground then stated in a memorandum indorsed on the petition, that the bill "should be made a part of the assignee's accounts, and be presented at a meeting of the creditors, and be audited as part of the assignee's accounts." If an assignee employs an attorney, who renders legal services for him, the bill of the attorney therefore should be presented by the assignee as part of bis accounts, at a meeting of creditors where the assignee's accounts are required to be presented, as provided by section 27 of the act. The intention is that the distoursements of the assignee in administering the estate, whether only incurred and not yet paid, or whether incurred and paid, shall be submitted to the creditors at a general meeting and be audited by the Register as a part of the business of auditing the accounts of the assignee, with a view to passing the same, under the power given to the Register by section 4 of the act and general order No. 5, to audit and pass the accounts of assignees. Under special circumstances the Court may properly on due notice to signee, with a view to passing the same, under the power given to the kegister by section 4 of the act and general order No. 5, to audit and pass the accounts of assignees. Under special circumstances the Court may properly, on due notice to all creditors who have proved their debts, institute an inquiry into the services rendered to an assignee by an attorney or counsellor, with a view to payment of them prior to the holding of any second general meeting of creditors; but the practice is one not to be encouraged.

On the 25th of February, 1874, the attorney for the assignee presented to the Court a petition setting forth, with particularity, the services he had rendered to the assignee in reference to the cestate, and annexing a bill thereof, stated in items, and amounting, for services and disbusements, to $556 5f. The petition states that at the third meeting of creditors—out when that was held is not state—the petitioner presented his bill contaming all the items, except the last four, to the kegister or taxa ion and allowance in open meeting; that the bill was brought to the knowledge of the assignee and all the creditors present, and neither the assignee nor any creditor took objection to the bill; that subsequently the Register, without passing on the hill, passed the accounts of the assignee and discharged him: but no order of distribution had been made, and he still had in his hands funds of the estate to the amount of about $4,900; that subsequently the Register, baving doubts as to his power to pass upon the bill, declined to do so; that thereafter the said petition of November 18, 1873, was presented for allowance at the third meeting of creditors, and all the creditors and the assignee had notice thereof and opportunity to object, and no objection was made. The petition prayed for an order directing the Register to pass upon, tax and adjust the bill, upon notice to the assignee," and ascertain and report, on like notice, whether anything, and, it so, now much ought to be paid thereon by said assign the estate.

The difficulty I have in this matter is that, even The difficulty I have in this matter is that, even assuming that the presentation of the built hat was presented at the third meeting of creditors, in the manner in which it was presented, was a proper presentation of it and a substantial compliance with the proper practice, as hercinbefore stated, yet she bill now presented has four items added to it, the last four (which seem to amount to $178.20, which have never been submitted to the creditors. Moreover, in the petition of November 18, 1873, the bill is stated to amount to $441.57. It is now claimed to be $556.57. The only course open is for a meeting of the creditors to be ordered by the Court, the assignee to give, under section 17, such notice thereof to all known creditors, by publication and otherwise, as is required to be given by the Marshal on the first meeting of creditors, the mortee to state that the special business of the meeting its general nature and amount as claimed, and the proceedings at the meeting to be reported to the court. Let a proper order in the premises be prepared by the Register and submitted to the Court.

SUPREME COURT-CHAMBERS. The Pacific Railroad Injunction Matter.

Before Juage Donobue. In the case of the injunction sought by M. M. Simpson against the Union Pacific Railroad Company, Jay Gould and others, the full particulars of which have been published in the HERALD, a decision was given yesterday by Judge Donohue, bedays since. The opinion embodying the decision, after receiting the facts of the case, which it is unnecessary to repeat, sums up with the following conclusions, which embrace all that is now of any additional interest. The motion of dismiss the complaint made by the uniendants for want of jurisdiction he denies, and he also denies the motion for an injunction to restrain the defendants from making any transfer of the strick. He grants the motion for increase of plainting security for costs, making it $2,000, instead of $250. As will be seen, the effect of this decision is an undoubted, prolonged and exciting in gation in the courts, and as $10,000,000 are involved it will no doubt put far in the shads the historic Eric Rai way suits that formerly absorbed so much these in the courts and the lands of the railway company.

Charge of Contempt of Court Not Sus-

The haneas corpus proceeding in the matter of the commitment of the Messrs. Walters, the aucdoseers, for an alleged contempt of Court, which has been belore the Court several times, and full reports of which have been heretofore printed in the Herald, culminated yesterday in their dis-charge. The Messrs. Walters, who for several charge. The Messrs. Walters, who for several days past have been in the nominal custody of their counsel. Mr. Ambross Monell, were promptly in court, as were Mr. Lewis Johnston, who was associated with Mr. Monell; Mr. Bookstaver, the Sheriff's counsel, and Mr. W. H. Galiaher, the counsel who obtained and desired to uphold the writ of a multiment. Mr. Galiaher made a lengthy argument on the sufficiency of the writ, but failed to remove the opinion of Judge Donohue already expressed, that the commitment was absolutely null and void, because of its indefiniteness and uncertainty. The relators were then formally discharged from the custody of the Sheriff, and left the court room much delighted with the result. Suit Against an Insurance Company.

Application was made yesterday on behalf of Henry V. Ganagen for an injunction restraining the directors of the Guardian Mutual Life Insurance Company from carrying out a contract to the Universal Life Insurance Company. The plaintiff, who is a stockholder, complains that such contract is depreciating the value of the stock, and he asks that the Court either grant the injunction asked for or appoint a receiver. It was contended in opposition that the company is solvent and doing a profitable business. The contract with the Universal Lile, it is caimed, is to pay the latter a percentage of the reserve on all the defendant's risks in consideration of the Universal I "e reinsuring each of the said tisks, an arrangement which defendants insist to be for the benefit of the stockholders.
This answer is verified by the President, Mr. A. W.
Gift, and other officers of the company. The deience further states that the plaintiff was formerly dismissed from the officers of the purpose of bringing this suit. The Judge reserved his decision. tiff, who is a stockholder, complains that such con-

Yesterday a writ of habeas corpus having been procured by Mr. Wilham F. Howe, he was brought into this court and an application made for his dis-charge. Assistant District Attorney Lyons resisted the application, but it being shown that carrying a pistol is not in violation of the statute promoti-ing carrying concealed weapons, Judge Lawrence ordered his discharge. ing carrying concealed ordered his discharge.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS-SPECIAL TERM. Litigation Under the Consolidation Act. Before Judge J. F. Daly.

Application was made yesterday on behalf of William Costello, assignee of the claims for salaries of a number of attendants in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, for a mandamus directing the Comptroller to sign the warrants. Judge Daly comptroller to sign the warrants. Judge Daly suggested that thehew consolidation act possibly made it a city matter and a case more proper for trial before a jury than for a mandamus. Neither of the counsel having come prepared to argue the case under this new aspect it was adjourned to give them time for preparation. The claims have been approved by the Board of Supervisors, audited by the County Auditor and everything done in the way of getting the money, except signing the warrants, which Mr. Green reluses to do.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS-TRIAL TERM-PART I. Sult Against the Belt Line Railroad Company. Before Judge Loew.

William Pallon, father and guardian of his minor son, against the Belt Railroad Company .- On the 11th of April, 1872, the plaintiff's child, who was five years old, escaped from the house of his fourth street, was run over by a car of defendants and both legs cut off. He was in court in his and both legs cut off. He was in court in his mother's lap, a pitiable object. Witnesses were sworn who saw the accident, and among them a William De Forest, dysterman, of No. 171 Eldridge street, who came in answer to an advertisement for some one who saw the accident. He was subject to a rigid cross-examination by A. Oakey Hall, of counsel for the company. The plaintiff appears by Mr. E. D. McCarthy, who contended that the child, though of tender age, was not to be held responsible for any negligence, even if any existed, which he denied. The defence rely on the negligence of the mother in permitting so young a child to go in the streets and upon the fact that the child stumbled against the middle of the car without being seen by the driver or conductor. The case will last two or three days and will present all the questions of law affecting liability of horse railroad cars in a crowded city.

A Dangerous Commodity.

Before Judge Gross.

Wack vs. Bucking.—In September. 1872, the plaintiff, a truckman, was driving through Chiff street, and immediately after crossing Fulton street noticed that his horses became suddenly lame. On examining their feet and looking round for a cause he discovered that a carbox of vitrol. lame. On examining their feet and looking round for a cause he discovered that a carboy of vitrioi had just been broken opposite the store of Kalbfietsch Sons on a dray of defendant, and, running down over the pavement, the horses had walked through it. One of the horses was in consequence laid up for three months and then sold at a reduced price. This action for damages is brought against the carman upon whose dray the vitrioi was, it being claimed that it was through his negligence it was spilled on the street; but the planning failing to connect the breakage with either the desendant of his carman, the Gourt dismissed the complaint

MARINE COURT-PART 2. Action for Alleged False Imprisonment— The Plaintiff's Antecedents Against

Before Judge Joachimsen. The premises of Henry Sierkie, No. 141 Amity street, was on three different occasions the object of the burglarious attention of some of the roughs that frequent the grog shops on the adjacent street corners and avenues. The last visitation in this connection was made on the 2d of December and Auritor Mr. Sierkiels absence to the land. last, during Mr. Siefkie's absence at his liquor store, No. 18 Sixth avenue. On this occasion Mrs. store, No. 18 Sixth avenue. On this occasion Mrs. Siefkle was violently assaulted by the rufflans, and tied last to the legs of a piano. Mrs. Siefkle described one of the burgiars, and her husband's suspicion at once fell upon Charles Williams, the piantiff in the suit for failse imprisonment. He in turn described the party to Officer Evans, who, although but a very short time in the precinct, at once recognized Williams, whom he had known in another precinct as an associate of the worst characters and a frequenter of the vilest dens therein. He immediately "went" for him and arrested him on Wednesday aiternoon, the 3d of Deacember. He was confined in the station house all night and brought before Judge Kilbrath at Jefferson Market the ioliowing morning. Mrs. Siefkle was unable, from the treatment she had received from the rufflans, to attend in Court, and Williams was committed for examination. He was discharged on Salurday by an order of the Court. Mrs. Siefkle failing to positively identify him. For this arrest and imprisonment the plaintiff, Williams, brings suit for $1,000 damages. Plaintiff's history of himself, elicited on a searching cross examination, was most damaging to himself, and when his own witness, the arresting officer, testified that he had long known him as the associate of thieves and burgiars, which there was no attempt made to deny, counsel for the defence at once moved to have the complaint dismissed. Judge Joachimsen, in passing on the motion, said that he would not be doing his outly to the delendant in the case or to the public, in view of the anterested and the police officer, who stated that he knew Williams as the associate of thieves and burgiars for a number of years, if he allowed the prosecution to be maintained. As to the arrest and the probable cause for it, Williams, when arrested and charged with the burgiary, did not deny it; he is brought to court, committed for examination and confined till Saturday without remonstrance or the slightest denial of his guit or assertion of MARINE COURT-PART 4. A Warning to Landlords-Heavy Dam-Before Judge McAdam.

Smith vs. Strauss.—The plaintiff, an old lady, was about to enter a butcher's shop on Eighth avenue to purchase meat, but as she stepped on the iron grating in iront of the door it gave way, precipitating her into the cellar beneath. She was much bruised and received a severe shock through the fall and brings this action against the landlord for compensation for her injuries. The Court charged the jury that the owner of a building erecting or maintaining a grating in this way is bound to keep it in such order as that it may be safe for persons to pass over it at all times, and if he neglects to do so is liable in damages to any person injuried through his neglect. The jury rendered a verdict in favor of plaintiff for $1,000.

STEALING A BIBLE.
Thomas Walsh, aged 14, was accused by Officer Curran with stealing a Bible from a church in Twenty-seventh street, of which Mr. James Berry is sexton. Mr. Berry appeared, but said he knew nothing of the stealing.
He had only recognized the Bible when brought to him by the policeman, who, it appeared, had seen it drop from the coat pocket of the boy Walsh. The prisoner explained the matter by stating that a boy named James Tracy had given him the book to hold, and as soon as he had relieved himself of it ran away. The Court accepted the story and let Tommy go home with his lather, who was in court.

MR. BERGH'S ORATORY.

MR. BERGH was in this court yesterday morning. The presence of a pick-axe handle, which lay athwart his knees, and on which he looked with evident interest, told the judges and court loungers that some mighty eight was to be made to save some mute beast from awnil punishment. When case No. 14 was called Mr. Bergh rose and said:—'May it please the Court, the unprecedented atrocity of this case calls for summary retribution. As I see that the calendar for to-day is rather short. I may indulge in what the Herald reporter has been pleased to cal a 'harangue,' I would inform this gentleman that my remarks were not intended to and additional animosity to his already brilliant imagination. Mr. Bergh thought that Paddy Casey, the prisoner at the bar, who had used a club on a poor horse, should be sent to jail and not fined. The Court coincided in the opinion and sent Paddy, who pleaded guilty, to the Pententiary for one month.

COMMISSION OF APPEALS.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 5, 1874.

The following is the Commission of Appeals day calendar for Wednesday, May 6:—Nos. 77, 12, 13, 27, 33, 45, 60, 71, 80, 92. The Court adjourned till to-morrow, at ten o'clock A. M.

COURT NOTES.

Unappreciated Judical Industry. There are six judges provided for by statute and elected by the people to preside over the several branches or "parts" into which the Marine Court is divided. From small beginnings the jurisdiction of the Court has been from time to time extended, till it has become, to the great bulk of the business people of the city, the arena for the settlement of all litigated matter in contracts, warrantees, standers, false imprisonments, actions for trover, disputed promissory notes, sherids' seizures, recoveries on fire and life insurance policies, and the thousand and one ills that busi-ness life is heir to, from a suit for $50 to one for judges are literally working like beavers, almost over the Court of General Sessions. Part 3, in a room over the First Civil District Court, over the engine house on Chambers street. Part 4, in a little 6 by 8 room in the same excuse for a public building, and Part 5 is held in one of the court rooms of the Common Pieas, loaned for this occasion only. The judicial spirit is strong, but must judges in the discharge of their duties. The Board Supervisors should look to it that proper accommodation is provided for the judges of this, the busiest, Court in the city within one building, and not have them attered all over the park, seeking places wherein they can sit for a term or two to dispose of the neavy public business devolving upon them. The sitting in the regular parts, as well as the judges who have improvised "parts," are often jurors and witnesses, the regular officials not being sufficient to cover all the ground. Let there be a remedy for this state of affairs, so that judicial zeal and modesty shall be no longer shamefully unappreciated. .

The United States Courts in Chambers Street.

It would be a great benefit to the officials of the United States District and Circuit courts if they could quicky get into the new and splendid quarters intended for them in the new Post Office building and out of that dingy old structure in Chambers street, sacred as it has been for many years to cobwebs and the storage of the various kinds of lumber and contraband goods seized by the Marshal. The ghost of Burton, whose theatre this temple of justice in Chambers street once was, may have been disturbed by the eloquence of advocates and the judicial pronounceents of magistrates; but it is to be hoped that soon the poor ghost will have ample room to fit around in the somewhat altered scene of former triumphs in dramatic art, while advocates, reverberate in the new hall of justice, in which there cannot be any ghosts or cobwebs for a long room for the accommodation of officials, and the due discharge of the public business.

Touching Reform and Retrenchment.

And now Charles Spencer has got a fat office created for his special benefit. Why not? Corporation Counsel E. Delafield Smith thought he was entitled to some recognition for his eminent public service in the Legislature, and has appointed him Attorney to the Department of Docks, with a do. Mr. Smith has also appointed Alexander Harvey as Attorney for the Collector of Personal Taxes. In the appointment of Charles Spencer as a sinecurist the taxesvers can see how great the couple of years ago redounds to their benefit. Keep the ball going for retrenchment!

EXTENSIVE ROBBERY.

The safe of the New York Central Railroad Company was robbed yesterday or during the pre-vious night of the sum of $32,000, in bills of various denominations. The failure to appear at his place as usual, of a young man employed in one of the offices, named George Van Velzer, led to the discovery of the robbery. Both circumstances, the disappearance of the money and the young man, led to the inference that he had committed the crime, but there is, as yet, nothing definitely known that will lasten the act on him. Van Velzer is only about nineteen years of age, and has been employed for some years in the depot. His father, a most respectable man, also holds a position under the railroad management. Young Yan Velzer was at his post as usual on Saturday, but nothing in his conduct created suspicion. His absence yeaterday morning, it appears, attracted attention, but little was at first thought of it. Later in the day, however, some one happened to remember he knew the combination of the safe. In this safe was a large amount of money, and the chiefs of the different bureaus in the depot became uneasy. An examination of the safe was made, and it was at once discovered it had been tampered with. The combination was disarranged and the door could not be opened. Word was sent to the manufacturers of the strong box, and after a few hours' delay the interior and the fact of the theft were at once laid bare. A cursory glance soon told that a robbery had been committed, and after a careful scrutiny of the contents it was established that the sum taken amounted to $30,000. There is as yet nothing to connect young Van Velzer with the absence of the money except his own disappearance, with his previous knowledge of the combination, and the railroad authorities are very careful about connecting his name with it. Captain Irving, of the Central Office, was notified of what had occurred during the afternoon, and he intrusted the working up of the case to Detectives Sampson and Farley. A young man named Baxter is a laso missing, and it is supposed Van Velzer and he are together. The police are of opinion they are still in town, and hope to catch them before much of the money is squandered. known that will tasten the act on him. Van Velzer is only about nineteen years of age, and has

SANITARY MATTERS.

At a meeting of the Board of Health held vester day afternoon amendments were made to several sections of the Santary Code. A communication was received from the Consul at Minautian, in fexico, to the effect that smallpox was prevalent in that town and two vessels were loading there at the time of his writing bound to New York. A bureau in the Department of Health. A bureau in the Department of Health. A communication was received from a practising physician complaining or the haste of undertakers in putting ice on people supposed to be dead. He detailed several cases, in which great injury had been done through the cupidity of the undertakers. After the reading of the letter in the Board. Dr. Stephen Smith said there were at present many cases of this kind constantly occurring. Fersons call in the undertakers before their friends are dead, and the ice is applied too soon. The following report was submitted and adopted:—

PATAL LEAP PROM A HOTEL WINDOW.

A Sad Result of Insanity. At a late hour on Monday night Coroner Woltman was called to Barnum's Hotel, Broadway, to hold an inquest over the remains of Mrs. Annie Coney, a beautiful and accomplished lady, wife of Mr. Alexander K. Coney, purser of the steamship Cuba, plying between this city and Havana and Mexico, who, while in a disordered state of mind, sacrificed her own life. Mrs. Coney for some days past had been in poor health and for a week or more her state of mind had been such that she required her state of mind had been such that she required almost constant watching. Mr. Coney returned to New York in the steamer on Monday, and finding his wife in charge of Dr. Ceccarini and nurses, attempted to bacily her. In which he partially succeeded. Early in the morning rilends and servants were passing in and out of the room, which is situated on the fifth floor, and while Mr. Coney's head was turned for a lew moments giving some orders to one of his servants, his wife took advantage of the opportunity thus presented, and stepping upon a chair jumped from the open window before Mr. Coney had time to save her and tell to the iront pavement. She was taken up inscusible and died two or three hours subsequently. By the fall Mrs. Coney received a confusion of the forenead, iaccrated wound of the clim, compound comminuted fracture of right upper arm, compound iracture of the right thigh and other injuries. He husband of deceased seemed to know of no cause for ner insanity. The jury found that deceased jumped from her window while suffering from acute mania.

Mrs. toney was twenty-three years of age and a native of Ohio.

TEE BURNING OF JOSEPH M'CANN. A Case of Drunkenness.

The case of Joseph McCann, who was fatally purned early last Sunday morning, while in bed on the third floor of premises No. 56 West Broadway, was yesterday investigated before Coroner Wolt-The evidence showed that McCann, who kept a groggery on the first floor, became very drunk, and not far from two o'clock A. M. took a lighted candie and started up stairs, to bed, leav-ing his wife in charge of the shop. In about ten ing his wife in charge of the shop. In about ten minutes afterwards she neard screaming and a cry of "Fire!" up stairs, which excited her so that she could not go to see what the matter was, till the police rushed into the house and found McCann's clothing on fire; also the bedding. Mrs. McCann says her husband must have set the bedciothes on fire with the candle, and insists she was not near him at the time of the occurrence.
